MEMPIUS, August 6, via Carno, August 8.

The steamers Champion and V. F. Wilson strived from Helena this morning, leaving there at 8 p. m. yesterday, but brings no important news, having on board as passengers a number of sick and wounded from Gen. A Democratic Congressional convention for the 7th Illinois district, consisting of Champaign, Coles, Cumberiand, Douglas, Edgar, Ford, Iroquois, Macon, Moultrie, Piatt and Vermillion counties, has been called to meet at Mattoon, on Wednasday, September 3d. A messenger was to have arrived from Gen.
Veach's detachment, out in search of Gen.

The steamer Accacia, reports about 148 hogsheads of sugar, found hidden it mile and a quaster from the west bank of the river, and taken on board. Two of the enemy found recommoitering on the bank were captured.

Col. Hovey's 33d Illinois regiment, doing garrison duty at Old Town, twenty-three miles below Helena, have captured five hundred take of cotton and other property, including one United States wayon lost by Gen. Cartis one United States wagon lost by Gen. Curtis at the battle of Pea Ridge.

Last Friday a skirmish took place between our cavalry and a confederate cavalry force twenty-nine miles below Helena. It was one wounded. The confederates lost several killed and wounded. All indications look toward lively times in conscript uniforms, several muskets, pistols, two lots of quinine, cotton, &c., was captured here by the provost general yesterday.

There is a manifest decrease here in the emount of cotton arriving at this point. The war spirit is fast absorbing every other feeling and interest. The people here appear to have but one object to accomplish, and that is the subjugation of traitors.

The secesh are exulting over the supposed impossibility of reinforcing Nelson before Bragg can strike his blow. A secesh priso-ner was shot in Memphis on Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. There never again can be peace between the North and South, if the South proves by the result of this civil war, that they are the superior power. Let no man be weak enough to cherish any such fond illusion, for no man can look at all below the surface and not see, that the real purport and object of this fight, is a trial of strength; and the North is stone blind if it fail to see that when beaten by the South it may expect neither to be spared or pitied. Who can fail to see that the South will make the of this war, if she feels herself able to en-force the claim? And will she not feel self able, if she comes off conqueror It is most stupid to suppose there will ever again be peace between the North and South, unless that peace is conquered now by the triumph of the Union. Is Gen. Morris less capable of leading a column of gallant Hoosiers to-day than he was thirteen months ago, when he conquered Garnett? Have we so many generals who have inscribed vicso many generals who have inscribed vic-tories on their banners, that we can afford to send them to Coventry after 'three months' service? We pay for that ay. When it shall come there will be some ground of hope for a fortunate event of the war.—Chicago Times, of yesterday.

The prayer of the righteous availeth much. We can scarcely look for large results from the petitions of the Chicago Times, whose humble beginning is set down above. They pray for the day of the abolition rule, that it may come. They see in it "some ground of home for a f see in it "some ground of hope for a for tunate event of the war." So do we, and not till then. When the Times prays for the advent of that era, we can only ejacu late, amen, from a full heart, for we know the petition will be answered, not because of the petitioner, but from the very nature of the request. It is as one should pray for rain when already the pall of a thunderstorm was sweeping down before the wind, or for the coming of spring toward heir own way, go out and set up for them. the last of May, or for day in the face

They "pray for that day." What day! tein of this unholy war; as the cause of as a nation before Christendom, shall make the abolition of the evil, the first and prominent national policy of the war. Abolition to rid the country of a war Slavery Union; to restore our national domain and make it PREE throughout, this is the comath, and its efforts to do it, all wars and ling day for which the Times is found praying, and to which petition we say again amen, for there will then indeed be "a for-tunate event of the war," and not till then.

We have hope of the Times, and con-gratulate it, that it stands now in a position which promises an answer to its pray in the coming day the cheerful promise we do who have tolled and worked for such a result. They affect to see in it disorganiz ation, and they welcome that; and such a ficed of troubles that out of all they hope will spring a permanent and lasting reestablishment of a great national wrong, and they would rejoice in that. They pray for that day as hungry thieves pray for a and will not have long to wait, but it will

It is crough to frighten any man who earnestly thinks about what it involves, and casts his eyedown the future upon the terrible and appaling consequences to us, if it be the fact that the South is to-day in fighting capacity, in military power and efficiency more than a match for the North. If we cannot meet her in war now, when we so far surpass her in numbers, in wealth, in all material resources, and when we have a navy and she has note; when she fights for treason and slavery, and we for freedom and the Union; cannot overwhelm the training of the proposed in January, 1890, to carry k-runcky with other States out of the comment and the Union; cannot overwhelm the very first, was acknowledged to be one of The lith Illinois entered the service at the first call of the government, under Colonel, afterwards General Wallace, who was killed in the battle of Shitoh. This gailant young officer-came of a family of high military reputation—his grandfather having fought heroically in the revolutionary war, his mole in the war of 1812, and his father in the Maxican war, where he wis killed at the bead of his regiment in the final battle before the Mexican war, where he wis killed at the bead of his regiment in the final battle before the Mexican war, where he wis killed at the bead of his regiment of his own abilities and bravery. And they carly found that they were not be disappointed. He led the lith gloriously at Donelson, in which memorable fight both he and his men earned laurels that will mib soon fade. The lith mustered after the close of the battle only about five hundred effective men. Again a Pittaburg Landing the 11th was engaged; on the first day, its perfect organization and discipline were remarked and praised by all; and it is enough to say of this regiment's daring during the second day, that it came out of the "cloud and the lightning" with only ninety-six men. Since then Col. Ransom has recruited a number of Tennossecans, and a number of his wounded-have recovered, so that he pow has about three hundred effective men.

So that now the man in the lith are all veterans. All are young blockaded as they now are by land as well as water.

This diminution of white population, which is constant and observed wherever the federal government has been restored, is owing manuly to two causes besides hostility to the government. First—the consequent scarcity and dearness of the necessaries of life; and second—the incompatibility of military rule even when moderate and wise, with the tomper of the American people. To me the necessity is obvious—is crying (if we would reclaim the States and not conquer them as Torritories) for the appointment of a provisional governor accompanying every advance of our ing, and enforcing, as far as practicable, the local laws, under defaulte instructions in regard to alarsery. But I see little likelihood of establishing, perhaps for years to come, any dvid anthority in the rebellious States, except within reach and protection of the military arm.

Grant me hospitality for a few words on in the lith are all veterans. All are young men, full of enthusiases and patriotism. Col. Ransom, with the glorious remnant of his regiment, is now at Cairo in command there. To be ordered to relieve so excellent an officer as Brigadier General Strong as commander of that post, is a high compliment to the accomplished young Colonel; but the object of ordering him back into Illinois is to give him an opportunity to fill un his recipant. him an opportsuity to fill up his regiment. It sadly needs more men. There is not a regiment of Illinois troops with which it would be a greater honor for our young men to connect themselves, than with this. What shall this nation do with the negro, is an irrepressible question which time and experiment alone can answer better than has Fred. Douglas. But what shall the army do with the contraband, demands an instant all with work, which were equally im-benetible and unwise, or transport them to come (home) market for their labor, a plus open to objections greater than that of cost. I would therefore discourage that reeming, by proclaiming, widely as the act of confica-tion, that our government can neither employ nor maintain them; that every darkey who wants rations must pay, with money or pro-duce; that they are to squat upon desert-ed lands, and find work if they can; but work

All that portion of country nerch of the Arkansas Riyer is now in our possession, and can be held if the government will only send arms and ammunition to arm these who throng to our ranks and ask to be taken in. Still private exertions, directed nor particularly to supplying delicacles for the sick, should not be relaxed. Halleckon Guerillas and Non-Com PARTISAN OR GUERILLA WARPARE. FARTISAN OR GUERILLA WARFARE.

The jacking of property, by guerilias or partisan forces, in offensive bestifity, is not a legitimate act, authorized by the law of cations, but a robbery. So, also, the killings of an enemy by such force, except in self-adense, is not an act of war, but a murder. The propertators of such acts, under such circumstances; are not enemies, legitimately, in arms, who can plead the laws of war in their justification, but they are robbers and murderers, and as such, can be punished. Their acts are unlawful; such, when captured, they are not freated as prisoners of war, but as criminals, subject to the junishment due their crimes. Hence, in modern warfare, partisans and guerilla.

Over two bubdred stalls have been erected and completed, which, in addition to outside stalls—as it is not required of exhibitors to keep their horses upon the grounds—will be amply sufficient to accommodate all.

The amphitheatre under the bray hands of Mr. W. H. Reynolds, is rapidly approaching completion. It is about fitteen hundred feet long, with twelve iters of seats, divided in the centre by a cammodious music stand, directly opposite the judges' stand. The admission to the amphitheatre is to be low, so that all can afford to secure a seat. This amphitheatre overlooks both the mile and half-mile tracks, and a good view of the starting and the coming and a good view of the starting and the comin of the seats.

Directly at the points, where the mile and half mile tracks diverge from each other, going south, in the spex made by such diver-gence, the judges and reporters stand is be-ing erected. It is in a position overlooking both tracks, and enabling two committees to operate, at the same time, with their respective classes—one on each track. The show ring is also located here, inside the half mile track, so that both reporters and committees can see all that is transpiring on the tracks and in the ring, from this stand. In the rear of the amphitheatre are the refreshment stands, systematically arranged, built after specifications furnished by the superintendent. They are equally distant from the amphitheatre, and arranged with a walk ten feet wide, between each stand. The most cheering assurances come in from all quarters. Over thirteen hundred choice horses are already promised. Smith, the working man of the concern, is bending every energy to make this Fair the grand feature of the season, which, in despite of the crisis, it

Windows flew up and heads flew out, resulting in the discovery of a for gold to remain a say considerable premium. buxom Irish girl belaboring a man over the head with a broomstick. The min had a large bundle under his arm, and was going at a 2:40 pace which soon secured his escape. An investigation into the circumstances re-vealed the fact that the daring rescal had borrowed a ladder from the opposite side of the avenue, and had planted it against a second-story window of No. 350, occupied by Mr. Dwyer, of the firm of Smith & Dwyer, and had entered the house. Everything was in confusion—furni ure displaced, clothing scat-tered about, letters opened, drawers pried open, but very little property of value had been taken. Next the fellow applied his ladder to Mr. Porter's house, No. 334, but from some reason did not enter. He then went back to No. 348, Mr. Joseph McPherson's house, and effected an entrance pursued by Mr., McPherson that he had to lesp to the ground to cicage. Here he had another narrow escape from the servant girl who had attacked him unmercifully with the

"The people will take the country if a Government will do its duty only indifferently well."

THE ESSENCE OF MEANNESS.

Washington latters deplet the condition of the emanchated negrees there as terrible. The are iterable without the assistance of the two forcessing. Without the assistance of the two they are so lary and helpless.

We find this miserable paragraph going the rounds of the papers without any to knowledged parentage—its last appearance being in the Chicago Journal. It is meat and false in every particular. In the first place "Washington letters" do not say any such thing. The story had its origin is one of Richardson's speeches. No letter writer has been so base as to invent or re-

The following are the facts as recently obtained from Brigadier General Wade worth, military governor of the District of Columbia: The male "contrahands" of adult age, are all employed at two kinds of work—burying dead horses, several thousands of whose carcasses have been deposited outside of Washington and George-ited outside of Washington outside outside of washington outside outside outside of washington outside ou ited outside of Washington and George-town, and breaking mules for the transpor-tation service. Both kinds of labor are very repulsive, and it is impossible to get white men to undertake either except at high wages. Gen. Wadsworth says that the Government serses from 18 to 45 cents per day per man, by employing the "contra-bands." They not only support them-selves and all their women and children but they have up something for a rainy day but they by up something for a rainy day.
If any, one hesitates to believe this statement, he can have his doubts solved at once by applying to Gen. Wadsworth.

There is a saying down South the meaner act in the world is "stealing gers dinner." Is not the originator infinitely higher in the scale of hum

it is spirited. The reader will also find some views on the conduct of the war, and the method of dealing with the monster Slavery, which will wake a response is every patriotic heart. Mr. Washburne does not say "if Slavery must fall, let it fall," but "down with it at once!"

Let There has been a great deal said about a "policy" being enneated by the President. With he has enucated it—00.00 men.—Journal of policy" being enneated by the President. With he has enuclated it—00.00 men.—Journal of policy" being enneated by the President. With he has enuclated it—00.00 men.—Journal of policy being enneated on the same "policy" was enunciated before and fell short. An army without a pell-y is body without soul: a steamship without fire or fuel; projectiles without powder. With half that number and a policy the rebels have thwarted our generals and disappointed our people. Men and munidoes are not what is lacking. The government must say the words and enunciate the policy of the war that shall give direction and efficiency to both. Give the army a policy and leaders who will execute it, and the armies of the Union are invincible.

Let two men get into a fight, the one using every available weapon within his reach—fists, feet, teeth, etc.,—the other, relying on his superior strength and on the "justice of his cause," will never conquer a peace while he stands on the defensive, with one hand in his pocket and the other hand gioved. No explanation or formal comparison is necessary in order to convey our meaning to the reader.

An Excellent Nomination.

The Republicans of the let Congressional District of Iows held a convention at Moust Pleasant, on the 6th limit, and nominated the Hou. Jasues F. Wilson, by acclamation. Mr. Wilson has proved himself to be a courageous and incorruptible representative. In the contents of the residion."
